

01 BATHROOM

01 Envirovision 171A0 £1000
www.envirovision.com

We've all seen the movies where some poor unfortunate is shoved in the bath with a little telly and starts frying like sizzling bacon. Your assailant would be scuppered if you were soaped up and watching telly with this 17in LCD – it's waterproof and mounts on the wall where it can't do any harm. You're not stuck with just GMTV and crap cartoons, either, as it has a Freeview tuner built in for a bit of FilmFour. Bring on the suds. And a back scrub would be nice.

02 Logitech Wireless DJ
 £180 www.logitech.co.uk

Streaming tunes from your PC means you get your entire digital music collection on tap, with no wading through CD cases and record sleeves, and taking an age to flit between albums. This ingenious system enables you to scroll through all your music on the neat remote's backlit screen, and uses its own wireless technology to give a range of up to 50m. Next track please, maestro.

THE HOUSE THAT STUFF BUILT

This is a tricky one – if you could pick just one new gadget to upgrade each room of your home, what would you pick? We've done the thinking for you and come up with this lot...

02 LIVING ROOM